ville Sunday of typhoid fever. He

the death of his father, General

—Boyle is one of the biggest hemp-growing counties in the state, and owing to the continued drouth, the hemp crop will be very short this fall. Boyle county farmers have already during the season delivered to local hempmerchants more than five million pounds of hemp, or something over $250,000 worth.

—Reports of farmers throughout Central Kentucky are the most discouraging in years. Oats, wheat, corn, hemp, tobacco and even hay are averaging only a third of a crop this year. Fields which heretofore produced an average of thirty bushels to the acre are this season yielding only ten bushels. Drouth is the cause attributed by the farmers for the gloomy outlook, and even grass is of a poorer character than in five years. Feeders of live stock anticipate a heavy increase in the price of corn, oats and hay in the next thirty days, and the public boarded farms for thoroughbred and trotting horses have raised the price of keep and are accepting no new horses at the old scale.

If you need shoes and want to buy them for a very little money, this is your chance. Our last week.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower, for the cure of indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver Trouble that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try a 25 cent bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. W. T. Brooks.

Caution!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Bosche's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents.—W. T. Brooks.

TWO MEN LYNCHED.

Deputy Sheriff Killed By the Mob's Attack on the Jail.

Red Lodge, Mont., July 20.—Jim Gorman, who killed his brother about a year ago and ran away with his brother's wife, and a man named Walters, who killed a widow named Hoover at the hot springs two years ago because she refused to marry him, were lynched at Basin, Wyo., early Sunday. C. E. Pierce, a deputy sheriff, was killed during the attack on the jail.

A state of lawlessness now prevails in northwestern Wyoming as a result of which all law and order seems to have been abolished. From President Moffett, of the Montana and Wyoming Telephone Co., who is now making a tour of inspection of his company's lines, comes an appeal for help from Sheriff Fenton, of Big Horn county, who has arrested a number of prominent cattle men near Thermopolis and has appealed to the governor of Wyoming for assistance of the militia in getting his prisoners to the basin.

It was reported to Sheriff Fenton last Wednesday morning that a mob was coming up to Basin from Hiattsville and Tonslip for the purpose of lynching Gorman and Walters. As a measure of protection the sheriff took these two men and a horse out of the jail and secreted them in a gully near town under guard of Deputy Sheriffs Felix Alston and C. E. Pierce. Gorman managed to slip his handcuffs and made his escape. He swam the Big Horn river, an unprecedented feat, and made for the mountains. A posse of seven men quickly organized and Gorman was recaptured early Saturday morning about 50 miles from Basin.

Saturday night a mob of about 50 unmasked men rode up the east bank of the Big Horn and compelled the ferryman to carry them across the river. The mob proceeded at once to the county jail and fired a volley into the jail. Deputy Pierce and Special Deputy Meade were guarding the prisoners at the time. One bullet grazed Meade's shoulder and entered Pierce's heart. Members of the mob then quickly procured two telephone poles and battered the jail doors down. They first came to Walters, who was crouched in his cell piteously begging for mercy. Walters was shot instantly.

The mob next found Gorman, whose body was pierced by five bullets and was left presumably dead. He lingered, however, until Sunday forenoon.

A still more alarming state of affairs is reported from the vicinity of Thermopolis. About six weeks ago, as a result of the range feud that has been so bitterly waged, a sheepman, Ben Minnick, was killed by cattlemen. The sheriff, it is asserted, has captured the murderers, who are all prominent cattlemen and whose names have been withheld owing to threats made against him. Sheriff Fenton is unable to get his prisoners to Basin. It is said the same mob that lynched Gorman and Walters are sympathizers and have declared that Sheriff Fenton will never get out of the locality alive with his prisoners. Sheriff Fenton has wired the governor of Wyoming for permission to use the state militia at Lander, and also has sent a telephone message to Basin and other towns, asking for volunteers to assist him in upholding the law. Everywhere hardy westerners are responding to the call, arming themselves and hastening toward Thermopolis. It is probable that the militia will be ordered to the scene and a bloody battle may be fought. The country about Thermopolis is a wild and lawless one. The last message from Sheriff Fenton, which was received Sunday morning, said he still held the prisoners and that he believed he could hold out until reinforcements came.

COAL TRAIN RAN AWAY.

Fireman Sustained Injuries Which Will Probably Result Fatally.

Scranton, Pa., July 20.—A train of 49 coal cars ran away on the Ontario & Western railroad north of Winwood, tearing up the ties and rails for many miles. Cars were thrown off the track and down embankments by sections and the engine was disabled by the piston ripping through the floor. Engineer Ferry and Fireman Burke crawled back over the swiftly moving cars in an attempt to set the brakes. Burke was thrown off and sustained injuries which will probably result fatally.

Car Famine in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., July 20.—On the eve of marketing the great wheat crop of Kansas a serious car famine exists. "It would be an impossibility," said the secretary of the board of railway commissioners, "for the railroads to get enough cars into the state to prevent a car famine."

Officially Denied.

Montreal, July 20.—Official denial was made by General Manager Hayes to the story that the Grand Trunk had acquired the Clover Leaf system. He said it was not the intention of the road to make any further extension in the States.

New York, July 20.—After standing as a hostelry about 140 years, the Lodi hotel at Kearney, N. J., has been destroyed by fire. Gens. Washington and Lafayette are counted among the historical personages who put up at the old tavern.

WALKED ON THE TRACK

Four Persons Instantly Killed Near Cincinnati.

Passenger Train Sideswiped an Excursion Train—Two Persons Fatally, Four Seriously and Six Badly Hurt.

Cincinnati, July 20.—Four persons were instantly killed Sunday afternoon near the Avondale suburban station on the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern division of the Pennsylvania while walking on the tracks. They were Louis and William Murr, messengers, aged 13 and 11 years, and two unidentified young men. While walking through a deep cut on a curve they got out of the way of an outgoing excursion train and were struck on the other track by an incoming passenger train, all being ground to pieces.

The Murr boys were the only support of their widowed mother. The engineer on the incoming train said he did not see the men and boys until he was almost onto them on account of the curve and that they were so attentively watching the picnic party on the other train that they did not hear the whistling. Albert Rosenzweig, who was with the Murr boys, was knocked off the track and escaped injury.

By the sideswiping of trains two excursionists were fatally, four seriously and six badly hurt as they were entering the Union station here Sunday noon. An empty Queen & Crescent train was backing out of the depot as an excursion train on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern from Vincennes was pulling out of the "Y" in the yards and sideswiped the tenth, eleventh and twelfth coaches that were filled with excursionists. Those in the tenth coach were not badly hurt and the trains were stopped before serious injury to the 12th coach. The 11th coach was badly damaged and the following were hurt:

Fatally Injured—Mrs. Carrie Crawford, aged 38, Washington, Ind., left thigh and leg crushed; internally injured. Harry Elswick, aged 11, Washington, Ind., right leg crushed off; badly bruised and cut.

Seriously Injured—Mrs. J. Elswick, aged 48, sister of Mrs. Crawford, Washington, Ind., leg broken, contusions of body. James Steens, aged 28, single, Washington, Ind., ankle crushed. Joseph George, aged 48, married, Logansport, Ind., ankle broken. Clara George, aged 14, leg fractured. Slightly Injured—Carl George, aged 10, contusion of feet and legs. Sol Zehnburger, aged 55, married, Shoals, Ind., lacerated face, bruised body. Elkins Zehnburger, aged 15, contusions of face. Frank Curry, aged 28, Washington, Ind., contusions of legs. Gus George, aged 18, Washington, Ind., bruised shoulders and face.

Gus and Carl George, the Zehnburgers, Curry and Kidwell were able to leave the hospital after their wounds were dressed. Several whose names were not learned had slight injuries, which were dressed at drug stores.

WHIPPED EIGHT MILITIAMEN.

He Resented Some Remarks Made About His Sweetheart.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 20.—A squad of militiamen at the Lake Contrary encampment made some remarks about a girl who had accompanied Marvin Winton to the camp. He resented it and whipped eight men in uniform. Their friends rallied and the man was driven almost into the lake. Winton drew a knife and cut several soldiers before the row could be stopped by constables. The prisoner was again attacked on a street car while in charge of the constables and badly beaten. A large mob gathered and was dispersed with great difficulty by the officers.

JAIL BROKEN OPEN.

Negroes Attempted to Lynch One of Their Color.

St. Louis, July 20.—The jail at Brooklyn, a suburb of East St. Louis, across the river from here, was broken open Sunday night by a mob of Negroes, whose desire it was to lynch one of their color for an attempted assault on a Negro woman, earlier in the day. William Carter, the Negro prisoner, was hurried from the village by the marshal, who took him in a roundabout way to East St. Louis for safe keeping after the mob had broken open the doors with a railroad tie. There were no other prisoners in the jail at the time.

Death of W. H. Jackson.

Nashville, Tenn., July 20.—W. H. Jackson, master of Belle Meade farm, died there Sunday of typhoid fever. Mr. Jackson was 29 years old, and until recently, upon the death of his father, Gen. W. H. Jackson, had succeeded to the management of the famous nursery for thoroughbred race horses.

Amendment to Canal Treaty.

Panama, July 20.—Reliable information received from Bogota says that it appears probable that the canal treaty will be ratified with an amendment, making the sum to be paid by the United States $25,000,000 instead of $10,000,000.

Opposed to the Opening of Wiju.

Yokohama, July 20.—M. Pavloff, the Russian minister at Seoul, capital of Corea, has had an audience with the emperor of Corea, at which he opposed the opening of Wiju, the port on the Yalu river.

HIS PARTING WORDS.

Grand Chief Engineer P. M. Arthur Dropped Dead While Speaking.

Winnipeg, Man., July 17.—P. M. Arthur, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, dropped dead at midnight while speaking at the banquet of closing the annual union convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which has been in session for the last few days.

Mr. Arthur had just risen to respond to a toast and repeated the words: "It may be my parting words to many of you," when he fell backward and expired.

Cleveland, O., July 20.—The body of Peter M. Arthur, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who died suddenly in Winnipeg, Man., last Thursday night, reached this city Sunday night over the Lake Shore railroad. It was accompanied by four members of the Brotherhood from Winnipeg, one from Portage, Ont., and another from Moose Jaw, N. W. T. There was no representation of engineers to meet the body on its arrival, this being in accordance with the wish of Mr. Arthur's family. The funeral Monday will be conducted as privately as possible in view of the wide acquaintance and the position held by Mr. Arthur.

MUST GO TO THE CHAIR.

The Knapp Jury Brings in a Verdict of First Degree Murder.

Hamilton, O., July 17.—A verdict of murder in the first degree, without recommendation of mercy, which means death in the electric chair, was brought in by the jury in the "Strangler" Knapp case at 7:35 Thursday morning. The jury had been out since 5:05 Wednesday evening.

The first ballot on Knapp's guilt is said to have stood 11 to 1, the second was 8 to 4, the third 10 to 2, and the next 11 to 1. At midnight the jurors stopped and amused themselves by telling yarns and jokes, and at 4 o'clock they began arguing with the solitary juror, who finally agreed with them at 4:30 Thursday morning.

It is said Juror Warwick was the juror who held out for a recommendation for mercy, but finally agreed with the majority.

Knapp received the verdict coolly, but paled visibly as he heard his doom. The verdict was a complete surprise to him, as he felt sure he would not get a death sentence. Only Wednesday he bet 25 cents with a fellow-prisoner at the jail that he would escape the death sentence.

A motion for a new trial will be made. Knapp was on trial for the murder of his wife, Hannah Knapp.

THE MANCHURIAN QUESTION.

It Has Been Settled Satisfactorily to the United States.

Washington, July 17.—The Manchurian question has been settled satisfactorily to this government. Assurances have been received from the Chinese government that it will in the near future open as treaty ports several ports now closed to the world's trade. The Russian government has conveyed formal assurance to the United States government that it will not in any way oppose such opening.

While the ports to be opened are not yet specified, it is gathered from the communications received that they are Moukden, the principal inland port of Manchuria, and Ta Tung Kao, at the mouth of the Yalu river. The state department is highly gratified at this outcome, feeling that it has secured not only for American commerce, but for the commerce of the world, a very substantial gain.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Abner McKinley Critically Ill at His Home, Somerset, Pa.

Somerset, Pa., July 17.—Abner McKinley, brother of the late President McKinley, is critically sick at his summer home. The physicians attending him are much alarmed and reports are that Mr. McKinley is not far from death's door. It appears that Mr. McKinley's illness did not assume a serious form until Wednesday. Thursday, however, a pain attacked the back of the patient's head, rendering him helpless. That it was a paralytic stroke is the grave fear. His relatives have been sent for.

Cuban Treaty Ratified.

Havana, July 17.—The senate Thursday ratified all the treaties with the United States excepting the Platt amendment treaty. The foreign relations committee has not yet prepared its report on the permanent treaty but will do so soon.

Schwab Suddenly Disappeared.

Philadelphia, July 17.—Charles M. Schwab, steel king, is staying in Philadelphia under an assumed name. On June 30 when the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation met and virtually sideswiped the president he disappeared.

Old Age Eliminated.

Washington, July 17.—President Roosevelt has issued an order eliminating old age as a disqualification for eligibility to appointment as laborers in the government service. The physical qualifications, however, must be met.

A Terrible Mistake.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 17.—Maj. Russell, for many years prominent in militia work of Kansas, while a resident of Leavenworth, died at the state hospital for insane through the accidental administering of carbolic acid.

THE END IS VERY NEAR.

Closing of Pope's Life is Expected Almost Hourly.

Both the Italian Government and the Authorities of the Vatican Have Made Final Preparations for the Pontiff's Death.

Rome, July 20.—Pope Leo XIII. laid Sunday night in a state of coma, and there are grave doubts in the minds of his doctors whether he will ever completely emerge. His immediate dissolution seems to be only averted by the reliability of the action of his heart. His pulse, though weak, continues steady. Shortly before midnight Dr. Lapponi said to a press correspondent:

"The pope at the present moment is in a state of coma, which may be called the condition preceding the last agony, the duration of which it is impossible to forecast, although everything leads to the belief that his condition can not last. To be more exact, he is still in a state of torpor and stupor, from which, however, he rouses occasionally when he hears sharp sounds, as for instance the insistent voice of one of his familiars calling loudly to him. Left alone, he relapses immediately into a condition of torpor. At intervals he murmurs in his sleep, continuing to have forebodings that he is being abandoned by his valet Centra and myself. These are the symptoms of incipient cerebral anemia and general exhaustion."

"He can no longer turn in his bed without assistance, and is being kept alive by artificial stimulants. During the last 23 hours he has had two injections of camphorated oil, three of caffeine and two hypodermics of salt water, besides drinking stimulants."

Misgr. Bislotti, master of the pope's chamber, said earlier in the evening that the pulse of his holiness had not yet shown any signs of becoming intermittent; so, despite his extreme weakness and coma, he believed the pope would survive the night and possibly Monday.

Both the Italian government and the authorities of the vatican have made final preparations for the pope's death. The government is rigidly censoring all telegrams and telephonic communication between Italy and the rest of the continent. At this hour but few people remain at the vatican. Dr. Mazzoni and Dr. Rossini and the cardinals have gone to their homes to await the last urgent summons.

Now that the supreme last moment in the memorable life and reign of Pope Leo is expected almost hourly, the contrast between the quiet within and the excitement without the vatican is most striking. In the vast palace there is a hushed calm of expectation, the only apparent wakeful souls being the Swiss guards. The doctors and attendants of the dying pontiff speak in whispers and move noiselessly about so that from the sick room no sound comes except the heavy breathing of the unconscious pope or his occasional cries for Pio Centra and Dr. Lapponi. His tone is one of fear, as though he felt himself abandoned. In reality sleep is very far from all eyes. No matter at what hour death comes, the whole palace will spring into sudden life as though touched by a magician's wand.

In the piazza of St. Peter's, on the contrary, all is movement, there being a regular encampment of journalists before the famous bronze doors, which are now closed in their faces and behind which the regular tramp of the Swiss guards can be heard. Many eyes are glued to the window in the pope's chamber, overlooking the piazza, while the near by cafes, especially those with telephones, are crowded. Bicycles ready for use are piled up outside them and cabs are lingering about in the hope of catching a fare. This strange scene is illuminated by the magnificent starlight while the two grand and celebrated fountains give a kind of spectral grace to the whole.

The Observatore Romano, the chief vatican organ, has received orders to hold a special edition. The only thing wanting to complete the paper is the hour of Pope Leo's death. The staffs of all the other papers are at their posts, ready to issue special editions at any hour of the night.

Woman Hanged For Murder.

South McAllister, I. T., July 18.—Dora Wright, colored, was hanged here Friday for the murder of Annie Williams, a 7-year-old girl. The evidence at the trial showed that the little girl had been beaten severely for many months, as there were old scars on her.

Business Failures.

COMING FINANCIER.

Young Napoleon of Finance Found a Way to Realize on Promised Assistance.

A certain member of the stock exchange set his nephew up in business three times, but the young man lacked something essential to success in the line selected for him, and had failed with each effort. Recently, when he came with the fourth request for financial assistance, the uncle demurred.

"You must learn to lean on yourself," he said. "I can't carry you all your life. If I would be an unkindness in me to keep supplying you with money to carry on enterprises that invariably end in assignments, I'll tell you what I'll do. You owe a great deal as the result of that last failure. Pitch in on your own hook, and go it alone till you pay off those debts. When you've done that I'll give you a check for all they amount to. Such an experience will do you more good than all the money I could give you now."

Two months later the nephew walked in with every claim receipted in full, and the uncle was so delighted that he gave the promised check.

"Now, that's something like it," he said, "and I'll wager you feel the better for the hard training. How did you manage it, Dick?"

"Borrowed the money."

Now the old gentleman is telling them that there is the making of a great financier in that nephew.

He Feels Good.

Caddo, Ky., July 20th.—"I believe I could climb a mountain without drawing a long breath," is the way William Ball, of this place, describes how he is feeling.

As Mr. Ball has been on the sick list for a long time, this declaration from him comes as quite a surprise.

When asked to explain how he had become so strong in such a short time, he says: "I did have Kidney Trouble very bad, in fact I had to get up four or five times every night to urinate. I had shortness of breath which distressed me terribly. I was badly used up, and was really of no account for anything."

"I used three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and that's what has made me well. I can sleep all night without having to get up. I feel splendid and as I said before, I believe I could climb a mountain without drawing a long breath. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all."

A Broad Insinuation.

The fat man slid into the only vacant seat just ahead of the woman who was about to take it.

The man standing up was so disgusted that, as the car away, he permitted the end of his cane to dig the fat man in the ribs.

The man standing next to the one with the cane leaned over and told him that he was needed at the stockyards.

"Me!" cried the man with the cane, indignantly.

"Yes, you!" replied the other. "That is where they pay good prices for pig stickers."

Then they both looked at the fat man, who acted as if he would like to hit some one.—Chicago Post.

BACKACHE.

Backache is a forerunner and one of the most common symptoms of kidney trouble and womb displacement.

READ MISS BOLLMAN'S EXPERIENCE.
"Some time ago I was in a very weak condition, my work made me nervous and my back ached frightfully all the time, and I had terrible headaches."

"My mother got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and it seemed to strengthen my back and help me at once, and I did not get so tired as before. I continued to take it, and it brought health and strength to me, and I want to thank you for the good it has done me."—Miss KATE BOLLMAN, 142nd St. & Wales Ave., New York City. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures because it is the greatest known remedy for kidney and womb troubles.

Every woman who is puzzled about her condition should write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her all.

A LEADER!

SUCH IS THE
Cincinnati Enquirer
IN THE NEWSPAPER WORLD.

An indispensable adjunct to the man of business, the financier, manufacturer, producer, tradesman, farmer and laborer.

All need certain facts and knowledge of affairs that pertain to each ones calling in life.

More especially, now, during the great onward march our country is making towards wealth and power, science and literature, mechanism and products of the soil.

The wide-awake gathers dollars where lagards earn cents. The enterprising newspaper that brings knowledge of the world's doings is the main prop and capital of the money-maker. Without the aid of a paper, like the ENQUIRER, one becomes the victim of his more enterprising neighbor. The information the ENQUIRER brings you for a few cents costs thousands of dollars to obtain. You need the ENQUIRER, and we want your patronage because deserving of it.

The DAILY ENQUIRER is the best all around newspaper in the United States. The WEEKLY ENQUIRER ranks as one of the ablest weekly journals in the land, and serves the average town and country masses faithfully in a reliable and profitable manner at $1.00 a year, while the daily issue at $14.00 a year, is worth that sum every day to the business man. THE INCIDENT CLOSED.

State Department Makes a Statement in Regard to Jewish Petition.

Washington, July 18.—It is stated by Secretary of State Hay that the incident created by the question of the presentation of the Jewish petition to Russia is closed. The state department Friday made public the correspondence that has taken place respecting the petition. Its substance has already been forecasted in the press dispatches. The correspondence consists of an instruction to Mr. Riddle, United States charge d'affaires at St. Petersburg, reciting in detail the petition, and directing him to present the same to the foreign office if it were willing to receive it. It is stated by Mr. Riddle that the foreign office would not receive it under any circumstances and Secretary Hay so informed the B'nai B'rith committee in a brief telegram.

The official statement of the facts is as follows: The Russian government has declined to receive or to consider the petition in relation to the condition of the Jews in Russia signed by several thousand citizens, and cabled to St. Petersburg by direction of the president.

It is believed that this petition was almost unexampled in the weight and dignity of the signatures attached to it. Among them are:

Andrew D. White and Clifton B. Breckenridge, formerly ministers to Russia, Carl Schurz, Whitelaw Reid, John G. Carlisle, former Postmaster General Thomas L. James, of the United States; Justice Peckham, United States supreme court; Thomas C. Platt, Edward M. Shepherd, William B. Hornblower, Albert B. Shaw, John F. Dillon, Senator Hopkins, of Illinois; Mayor Seth Low, Cornelius N. Bliss, James Stillman, John Claffin, Congressman A. F. Cooper, of Pennsylvania; Congressman John Sharpe Williams, of Mississippi; Judge D. Cady Herrick, New York supreme court; Alden Chester, New York supreme court; Col. John Weber, formerly commissioner of immigration; Henry B. F. MacFarland, president commissioners District of Columbia; Herman Ridder, John G. Brisban, Geo. T. Rives, E. M. Grout, the governors of Virginia, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Louisiana and Nebraska; the chief justices of all the states which return are in a great number of congressmen, publicists, bankers, Protestants and Catholic preachers, mayors of leading cities, prominent educators, leaders of the bar, physicians, scholars and manufacturers.

When the petition reaches Washington the various pages will be bound together in magnificent style in one volume and delivered to Andrew Allen, chief of the bureau of rolls of the state department, for safe keeping.

HEAD OF THE ARMY.

Gen. Young's Appointment as Lieutenant General Effective August 8.

Washington, July 18.—The president has given directions for the preparation of commissions for the following promotions in the army: Maj. Gen. Young, to be lieutenant general, vice Lieut. Gen. Miles, who retires August 8; Brig. Gen. S. S. Sumner, to be major general, vice Maj. Gen. Davis, to be retired July 26; Brig. Gen. Leonard S. Wood, to be major general, vice Gen. Young, to be promoted. Secretary Root Friday sent a memorandum to the adjutant general for the promotion of the colonels to brigadier generals and their retirement with that rank.

THE NEW CUP HUNTER.

The Shamrock III. Beat Shamrock I. in a Thirty Mile Course.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., July 18.—Sir Thomas Lipton's new cup hunter manifested that it was in its finest racing trim Friday by showing clean heels to Shamrock I. from start to finish over a 30 mile course and winning by 11 minutes 44 seconds elapsed time, a decisive victory. Twice in the thirty mile the captain of Shamrock I. got the better of it in a shift of wind, after the challenger had established a big lead. Only the challenger's superior heels enabled it to regain the advantage.

Constitution Defeated the Reliance.

New Haven, Ct., July 18.—The Constitution won from the Reliance Friday on time allowance in the first turn of the New York Yacht club cruise of 37 miles from Glen Cove to this port. The Reliance led the Belmont boat at the finish by 59 seconds, but she had to allow her rival 2 minutes and 17 seconds, which gives the race to the Constitution by 1 minute and 18 seconds.

Extra Session of Congress.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 18.—After a conference with Senator Lodge President Roosevelt determined to call an extraordinary session of congress. The date decided upon is November 3. The purpose of calling congress into extraordinary session is to pass some remedial financial laws that the president deems necessary.

Insane From Reading Lynching Report
Kalispel, Mont., July 18.—Ed Burhill, a Negro carpenter, has gone insane from reading reports of lynchings of Negroes. He ran wildly through the streets shouting that a mob was after him. He was taken to the asylum.

The Very Essence of Inconsistency.

Conspicuous in the Republican platform adopted at Louisville last week is a plank in denunciation of assassination "whether in Kentucky or Serbia" as destructive to civilization. This will strike the averaged unbiased observer that the position of the Republicans is not quite consistent. It has been only about three years ago since the Republican politicians were seeking to condone and excuse assassination and protect assassins from punishment. In fact they are doing it to-day. There was no such vigorous denunciation and demand for punishment on the part of the Republicans when some cowardly assassin, carrying out a political plot, secreted himself in the office of the Republican Secretary of State and killed the Hon. Wm. Goebel in order to prevent him from becoming Governor.

It has certainly not been forgotten by them that a certain Governor Taylor, whose indictment for complicity in the Goebel assassination plot, is now a fugitive from this State, enjoying the protection of the Republican Governor of Indiana, who declines to permit him to be extradited. No uncontrollable demand has ever been made on the part of Republicans for his surrender to the Kentucky authorities, much less his punishment if he be guilty.

The indignation of the G. O. P. is caused by the conditions in Breathitt county. There it is charged that some men who are Democrats have been engaged in the bloody work of assassination. But the assassination of Goebel and the assassination of Marcum are in no wise analogous. One was the result of a political controversy, the other the outcome of a long standing feud, in which politics paid little or no part.

Further on the platform denounces Beckham for rendering criminals of Democratic faith immune from punishment, which is unjust, but says nothing of the immunity which Taylor is enjoying in the wilds of Indiana. The Republicans are the very essence of inconsistency.

NOTICE.—Dr. C. H. Bower, optician, will be at A. J. Winters & Co.'s, on Thursday, July 30th.

AND old Simon Bolivar Backner was a conspicuous figure in the Republican State Convention! He also has forgotten the party that once honored him and turned traitor too. The immortal Geo. D. Prentice sized the old rooster up about right when he dubbed him "The Judas Iscariot of Kentucky, the Benedict Arnold of the Confederacy."

Shooting at St. Joseph Hospital.

The shooting of Richard Hudson, of Orlando, Fla., in a room at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, Friday night, created a sensation. The affair was given out as an attempt at suicide on the part of young Hudson, but Mrs. Thomas Warren, of St. Louis, who was in Lexington visiting the family of her father, C. F. Reed, says that she fired the shot and that Hudson told that he shot himself to shield her.

Mrs. Warren says that she had taken a room at the hospital and that she had a revolver of a rare old pattern which he wanted, and he had brought a new and smaller revolver to exchange with her for the large one. While examining the revolver it was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck Hudson just above the heart, penetrating the left lung and inflicting a dangerous wound. Hudson had been to Lexington on business and only arrived in Lexington, Friday. He passed through Lexington on his way East a week ago and remained for one day. He was going on to Florida Saturday morning.

Mrs. Warren is the wife of Thomas Warren, a wealthy young man of St. Louis, well known in Lexington and Louisville.

Nearly all of them were "dope" fiends.

A PARROT CAUSES TROUBLE.—When they first began laying stone on our new court-house a whistle was used as the signal to the engineer for the movements of the steam derrick. In a few days after they started there was trouble in the camp. The engineer would hear the signals and act accordingly. The contractor and foreman of the stone work would say they never made any signals. After considerable confusion and annoyance the trouble was located. Mrs. Wm. Hukill, who lives across the street on Broadway, has a very intelligent parrot, which had constituted itself as foreman and gave the signals to perfection. The workmen were compelled to do away with the whistle, and now use a gong attached to the derrick.

POPE LEO IS DEAD.

Pope Leo XIII. is dead. The end came at 4:04 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

His Holiness had a last brief lucid interval about 3 o'clock and muttered a few words to those present.

The Pope's last moments were comparatively peaceful and painless and were preceded by a period of insensibility.

Around the bedside at the final moments were Cardinals, relatives and members of the papal court.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness the dying Pontiff feebly moved his lips, his last articulated words being those used in bestowing his benediction.

E. O. Fretwell's Will.

The following will of the late E. O. Fretwell was probated for record on July 18:

1st. I want all my debts and funeral expenses paid.

2nd. I give to my brother, L. J. Fretwell and his wife, M. A. Fretwell, all of my personal property and real estate, at their death to go to their daughter, Mariamne Prichard.

3rd I make Mariamne Prichard their trustee without bond. She is to see that they get their board and clothes and doctors bills are paid.

CODICIL.

4th. I want to give out of my estate enough money to have the dead bodies removed from the country grave yard to my lot in the Paris cemetery and a tomb put over my mother's grave. If I should do this before I die then the fourth clause is void, and not be enforced.

The will and codicil is in Mr. Fretwell's own hand writing. The will bears date of Feb. 1st, 1902, and the codicil July 1st, 1902. His estate consists of 200 acres of Bourbon county lands with growing crops.

All difficulties have been removed from the construction of the Paris and Lexington interurban line, and the road is on the way to completion without any further hitch promised. The Hagan difficulty has been submitted to a board of arbitration, and pending the verdict of the board, the work goes merrily on. About thirteen miles have been completed, and wiring has been commenced on part of it. After so much trouble has been had with the road, and prospects of litigation resulting, it is a relief to know that the work will go on uninterrupted until it is completed. It has been said that the road will be in working order by the first of September at least, unless some unforeseen difficulty presents itself.

JETT-WHITE CASE.—Forty-seven witnesses for the prosecution have been summoned in the Jett-White case to be called at Cynthiana, July 27.

Has Made His Will.

According to a statement made by B. J. Ewen, his knowledge of the assassinations of Dr. Cox and Jim Cockrell are causing him more uneasiness for his safety before the grand jury than in his part in the Jett-White affair.

He has made every preparation to go to-day, and Saturday had transferred to the name of his wife all the money in the banks raised for the Ewing fund. He has also made his will, giving all his property to his wife, to do and dispose of as she wishes. Capt. Ewen was asked what the facts were in the assassination cases, but he said: "I have never told anyone excepting a friend and my wife."

THE PROCRASTINATOR.

Here I fold my hands and wait
And hope that wind or tide or sea
Some day may be induced by Fate
To bring some good thing here to me.

I put off work, I make delays,
For what's the use of eager haste;
The man who labors all his days
Lets much sweet leisure go to waste.

I sit and dream day after day
Of things that might be brought to me
If Fortune turned a certain way
To put me next with Destiny.

What matter if I sit alone
And hope to reap rich crops galore
From fields that I have never sown?
Have such things not been done before?

I know the singing brook may not Sit still and yet keep getting on;
But work's a bore, and who knows what
May come before to-morrow's dawn?

The stars come nightly to the sky,
The tidal wave unto the sea;
Why may not something, then, if I
Keep right on waiting, come to me?

"Yes, sir," answered the boy, straightening up to attention. Then, scrupulously exchanging salutes, the old soldier and the young parted company, and the major returned to receive the reports of the old and new officers of the day. These gentlemen were still with him, Capt. Chew, of the infantry, and the senior first lieutenant for duty with the 1st, when Hay came hurrying up the board walk from the direction of the store. For reasons of his own, Webb had sent his orderly to the guard-house to say to the officers in question that he would await them at his quarters instead of the little building known as the adjutant's office, in which were the offices of the commander, the record room in which were placed the desks of the sergeant major and his three clerks, and the sleeping rooms of the special duty soldiers. It had happened more than once in the past that garrison stories of matters not supposed to be known outside the office had been traced back to that desk room, and now Webb's questions of his old officer of the day, and his instructions to the new, were not things he cared to have bruited about the post. He was listening intently to the captain's report of the sentries' observations during the night gone by when Hay reached the gate and stopped, not wishing to intrude at such a moment.

"Come in, Mr. Hay," said the commander, cordially. "This will interest you," and, thus bidden, the trader joined the soldiers three on the veranda, and some of the young people of the garrison, setting up their croquet arches on the parade, looked curiously toward the group, and wondered what should keep the old officer of the day so long. Sauntering down the walk, smiling radiantly upon the occupants of the various verandas that she passed, then beaming between times into the face of her smitten escort, her black eyes and white teeth flashing in the rare sunshine, Nanette Flower was gradually nearing the major's quarters. She was barely 20 yards away when, in obedience to some word of the major, Mr. Hay held forth two white packages that, even at that distance, could be recognized, so far as the outer covering was concerned, as official envelopes. She was too far away, perhaps, to hear what was said.

"It seems," began Webb, to his officers, as he mechanically opened the first packet, "that Field took fire at Wilkins' growls about the bother of keeping his funds, so the youngster stowed his money with Hay. He insisted on turning over everything before he left, so I receipted to him. Let's see," he continued, glancing at the memorandum in his hand. "Three hundred and seventy-two dollars and eighty-five cents post fund, and four hundred belonging to enlisted men. I may as well count it in your presence."

By this time the long, lean fingers had ripped open the package marked four hundred, and were extracting the contents—a sheet of official paper with figures and memoranda, and then a flat package, apparently, of currency. Topmost was a $5 treasury note; bottommost, another of the same denomination. Between them, deftly cut, trimmed and sized, were blank slips of paper to the number of perhaps 30, and the value of not one cent. With paling faces, the officers watched the trembling fingers slash open the second; its flap, as was that of the first envelope, securely gummed—not sealed. A nickel or two and a few dimes slid out before the packet came. It was of like consistency with first, and of about the same value. Webb lifted up his eyes and looked straight into the amazed—almost livid face of the trader.

"My God! Major Webb," cried Hay, agast and bewildered. "Don't look at me like that! No man on earth has ever accused me of a crime. This means that not only my stable but my safe has been robbed—and there is a traitor within my gates!"

Dr. Tracy, absorbed in contemplation of Miss Flower's radiant face, and in the effort to make his own words eloquent, had no ears for those of others. He never heeded the trader's excited outburst. He only saw her suddenly flinch, suddenly pale, then sway. His ready arm was around her in a twinkling. In a twinkling she twisted free from his undesired clasp.

"Just—my foot turned—a pebble!" she gasped.
But when, all assiduity, Tracy would have seated her on the horse-block and examined the delicate ankle, she refused straightway, and with almost savage emphasis, and with rigid lips, from which all loveliness had fled, bade him lead her home, where, despite protest and appeal, personal and professional, she dismissed him curtly.

CHAPTER VI.

Ray's gallant half hundred, as has been said, took the route for the north at break of day. Before them spread the open prairie, apparently level and unbroken for full five miles to the front and either flank, the distant slopes and ridges bounding the level expanse growing more distinct with every moment, and presently lighting up in exulting radiance in response to the rosy blushes of the eastward sky. Scorning the dusty stage road, the troop commander pointed to a distant height just visible against the northward horizon, bade the leading guide march straight on that; then gave the order, "Right by twos," that he might the more readily note the gait and condition of every horse and the bearing and equipment of his rider. There was still time to weed out the weaklings of either class should any such there be. Liding slowly along the left flank, one after another, he carefully scanned every man and mount in his little detachment, then, at quicker pace, passed around to the eastward side of the column, and as critically, carefully studied them from that point of view. A light of quiet satisfaction shone in his fine, dark eyes, as he finished, for, next to his wife and children, that troop was Ray's supreme delight. The preliminary look-over by lantern light had been all sufficient. This later inspection on the move revealed not a steed amiss, not an item of equipment either misplaced or lacking.

As has been said, Ray's senior subaltern was on detached service. His junior, Mr. Clayton, had joined but the year before, and this threw Mr. Field in command of the leading platoon and to the side of the leading guide. Now, as the senior officer took the lead of column and Mr. Clayton fell back to the rear, the silence of the first mile of march was broken and, though sitting erect in saddle and forbidden to lounge or "slouch," the troop began its morning interchange of claff and comment. Every mother's son of them rejoiced to be once more afield with a chance of stirring work ahead.

"It's time to throw out our advance, Field," said Ray, in kindly, cordial tone, as he scanned the low divide still some miles ahead and reined in beside the stern-faced young soldier. "Send Sergeant Scott forward with three men and the same number on each flank—corporals in charge."

He had more than liked Webb's adjutant. He had been his staunchest friend and supporter among the troop and company commanders, and was eager to befriend him now. He had expressed no wish to have him sent on the hurried move, but well he knew the post commander's reasons and approved his course. Still, now that Field was being removed, for the time at least, from the possibility of an entangling alliance that might prove disastrous, in every way in his power Ray meant to show the mortified, indeed sorely angered, officer that his personal regard for him had suffered no change whatever. If he could succeed in winning Field's confidence it might well be that he could bring him to see that there were good and sufficient grounds for the post commander's action—that for Field's own good, in fact, it was a most desirable move. The soul of loyalty and square dealing himself, Ray had never for a moment dreamed that anything other than a foolish escapade had occurred—a ride by moonlight, perhaps, demanded of her devotee by a thoughtless, thoroughbred coquette, whose influence over the young fellow was beginning to mar his usefulness, if not indeed his future prospects. Just what to think of Nanette Flower Ray really did not know. Marion, his beloved better half, was his unquestioned authority in all such matters, and it was an uncommon tenet of that young matron never to condemn until she had cause. Instinctively she shrank from what she had seen of Miss Flower, even though her woman's eye rejoiced in the elegance of Miss Flower's abundant toilets; and conscious of her intuitive aversion, she would utter no word that might later prove unjust. Oddly enough, that instinctive aversion was shared by her closest friend and neighbor, Mrs. Blake; but, as yet, the extent of their condemnation had found vent only in the half whimsical, half petulant expression on part of the younger lady—Blake's beautiful wife, "I wish her name weren't—so near like mine," for "Nan" had been her pet name almost from babyhood. Vaguely conscious were they both, these lords of creation, Messrs. Blake and Ray, that the ladies of their love did not approve of Miss Flower, but Ray had ridden forth without ever asking or knowing why, and so, unknowing, was ill prepared to grapple with the problem set before him. It is easier to stem a torrent with a shingle than to convince a lover that his idol is a shrew.

Without a word of reply, Field reined out of column, glanced along the double file of his platoon, nodded a signal "fall out" to Sergeant Scott, and the men nearest him at the front, merely said "advance guard," and then proceeded to choose his corporals and men for flankers. No need to tell Scott what to do! He had been leading scouts in Arizona long ere Field had even dreamed of West Point. In five minutes, riding at easy lope, carbines advanced, three little parties of four troopers each were spreading far out to the front and flank, guarding the little column against the possibility of sudden assault from hidden foe.

And at this moment the situation was grave in the extreme. There had been bad blood and frequent collision between the cattlemen, herders, "hustlers"—especially hustlers and the hunting parties of the Sioux and the Northern Cheyenne, who clung to the Big Horn range and the superb surrounding country with almost passionate love and with jealous tenacity. There had been aggression on both sides, then bloodshed, then attempts on part of frontier sheriffs to arrest accused or suspected red men, and equally determined and banded effort to prevent arrest of accused and identified whites. By due process of law, as administered in the days whereof we write, the Indian was pretty sure to get the worst of every difference, and therefore, preferred, not unnaturally, his own time-honored methods of settlement. In accordance therewith, had they scalped the sheriff's posse that had shot two of their young braves who had availed themselves of a purposely given chance to escape, and then in their undiscriminating zeal, the Sioux had opened fire from ambush on Plodder's hunting parties and the choppers at the wood camp, who defended themselves as best they could, to the end that more men, red and white, were killed. The Indians rallied in force and closed in about Fort Beecher, driving the survivors to shelter within its guarded lines, and then, when Plodder needed every man of his force to keep the foe at respectful distance, so that his bullets could not reach the quarters occupied by the women and children at the post, there reached him by night a runner from the stage station far over to the southeast, on a dry fork of the Powder, saying that the north and southbound stages had taken refuge there, with only ten men, all told, to stand off some 50 warriors, and therefore imploring assistance. Not daring to send a troop, Plodder called for volunteers to bear dispatches to Maj. Webb, at Frayne, and Pat Kennedy, with half a dozen brave lads, had promptly stepped forward. Kennedy had managed to slip through the encircling Sioux by night, and to reach Fort Frayne after a daring and almost desperate ride. Then Ray was ordered forth, first to raise the siege at the stage station, then, either to hold that important relay ranch or go on to reinforce Plodder, as his judgment and the situation might dictate.

He knew enough of the stout adobe walls of the corral on the Dry Fork, and of the grit of the few defenders, to feel reasonably sure that, with ammunition, provisions and water in plenty, they could easily hold out a week if need be against the Sioux, so long as they fought on the defensive and the Indians were not strongly reinforced. He reasoned that Stabber and his people were probably gone to strengthen the attack, and that having an hour's start at least, and riding faster, they would get there somewhat ahead of him. But one of his own old sergeants, a veteran of 20 years in the cavalry, was now stationmaster on the Dry Fork, and all the Sioux from the Platte to Paradise couldn't stampede old Jim Kelly. Many a forced march had Ray made in the past, and well he knew that the surest way to bring his horses into action, strong and sound at the finish, was to move "slow and steady" at the start, to move at the walk until the horses were calm and quiet, was his rule. Then on this bright September day would come the alternating trot and lope, with brief halts to reset saddles; then, later still, the call upon his willing men and mounts for sustained effort, and by sunset he and they could count on riding in, triumphant, to the rescue, even though Stabber himself should seek to bar the way.

And that Stabber meant to watch the road, if not to block it, became evident before the head of the column began the gradual ascent of Moccasin Ridge, from whose sharp crest the little band could take their last look, for the time, at least, at the distant walls of Frayne. Somewhere toward seven-thirty, Corporal Connors' foremost man, far out on the left flank, rising suddenly over a low divide, caught sight of a bonneted warrior bending flat over his excited pony and lashing that nimble, fleet-footed creature to mad gallop in the effort to reach the cover of the projecting point of bluff across the shallow ravine that cut in toward the foothills. Stone, the trooper, lifted his campaign hat on high once, and then lowered his arm to the horizontal, hat in hand, pointing in the direction the darting savage was seen, and thus, without a syllable having been spoken at the front, word was passed in to Ray that one Indian had been sighted far out to the northwest.

"They may try to hold us among the breaks of the Mini Pasa," said he, to his still unconvinced second in command. Field had been civil, respectful, but utterly uncommunicative in his replies to the captain's repeated cordialities. Any attempt to even remotely refer to the causes that led to his being ordered out with the detachment had been met with chilling silence. Now, however, the foe had been seen and could be counted on to resist if his rallied force much exceeded that of the troop, or to annoy it by long-range fire if too weak to risk other encounter. The command halted one moment at the crest to take one long, lingering look at the now far-distant post beyond the Platte; then, swinging again into saddle, moved briskly down into the long, wide hollow between them and the next divide, well nigh three miles across, and as they reached the low ground and traversed its little draining gully, a muttered exclamation "Look there!" from the lips of the first sergeant, called their attention again to the far left front. Stone, the trooper who had reported the first Indian, had turned his horse over to the second man, as had the corporal on that flank, and together they were crouching up along the eastward face of a billowing hillock, while, straight to the front Sergeant Scott, obedient to a signal from his left hand man, was speeding diagonally along the rise to the north, for all three advance troopers had halted and two were cautiously dismounting. Ray watched one moment, with frowning eyes, then turned to his young chief of platoon:

"Take your men, Field, and be ready to support. There's something behind that second ridge!"

CHAPTER VII.

As Webb had predicted, ever before nine o'clock, came prompt, spirited response from Laramie, where the colonel had ordered the four troops to prepare for instant march, and had bidden the infantry to be ready for any duty the general might order. From Omaha—department headquarters—almost on the heels of the Laramie wire came cheery word from their gallant chief: "Coming to join you noon train today. Cheyenne 4:30 to-morrow. Your action in sending Ray's troop approved. Hold others in readiness to move at a moment's notice. Wire further news North Platte, Sidney or Cheyenne to meet me."

Everybody, of course, was aware by eight o'clock that Field had gone with Ray, and while no officers presumed to ask if it was because Ray, or Field, had applied for the detail, no woman would have been restrained therefrom by any fear of Webb. Well he realized this fact, and dodging the first that sought to waylay him on the walk, he had later intrenched himself, as it were, in his office, where Dade, Blake and the old post surgeon had sat with him in solemn conclave while Bill Hay brought his clerk, bar-keeper, storekeeper, Pete, the general utility man, and even "Crapaud," the halfbreed, to swear in succession they had no idea who could have tampered with either the safe or the stables. Closely had they been cross-examined; and, going away in turn, they told of the nature of the cross-examination; yet to no one of their number had been made known what had occurred to cause such close questioning. Hay had been forbidden to speak of it, even to his household. The officers-of-the-day were sworn to secrecy. Neither Wilkins nor the acting adjutant was closeted with the council, and neither, therefore, could do more than guess at the facts. Yet that somebody knew, in part at least, the trend of suspicion, was at once apparent to Webb and his councilors when, about nine o'clock, he took Blake and Dade to see those significant "bar shoe" hoof prints. Every one of them had disappeared. "By jove!" said Webb, "I know now I should have set a sentry with orders to let no man walk or ride about here. See! He's used his foot to smear this—and this—and here again!"

Too Previous.

When Dr. Sewell, for many years warden of New college, Oxford, was seriously ill about a year ago, the fellows of the college, and, indeed, all his friends, despaired of his life.

The senior fellow at the time, wishing to have all things in order, wrote to the home secretary for leave to bury the warden in the college chapel.

Before the next college meeting the warden had recovered. He presided at the meeting, and with no little enjoyment read out the home officer's letter permitting his own burial.

"It gives me great pleasure," said he, "to congratulate the senior fellow on his admirable promptitude and energy. I cannot, however, truthfully say that I regret that both were wasted."—Pupic Opinion.

PE-RU-NA IS OF ESPECIAL BENEFIT TO WOMEN

Says Dr. M. C. Gee, of San Francisco.

A CONSTANTLY increasing number of physicians prescribe Peruna in their regular practice.

It has proven its merits so thoroughly that even the doctors have overcome their prejudice against so-called patent medicines and recommend it to their patients.

"I Advise Women to Use Per-ru-na," Says Dr. Gee.

Dr. M. C. Gee is one of the physicians who endorse Peruna. In a letter written from 513 Jones street, San Francisco, Cal., he says:

"There is a general objection on the part of the practicing physician to advocate patent medicines, but when any one medicine cures hundreds of people, it demonstrates its own value and does not need the endorsement of the profession."

"Peruna has performed so many wonderful cures in San Francisco that I am convinced that it is a valuable remedy. I have frequently advised its use for women, as I find it insures regular and painless menstruation, cures leucorrhoea and ovarian troubles, and builds up the entire system. I also consider it one of the finest catarrh remedies I know of. I heartily endorse your medicine."—M. C. Gee, M. D.

Mrs. E. T. Gaddis, Marion, N. C., is one of Dr. Hartman's grateful patients. She consulted him by letter, followed his directions, and is now able to say the following:

"Before I commenced to take Peruna I could not do any hard work without suffering great pain. I took Peruna, and can say with pleasure that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken. Now I am as well as ever; I do all my own work and it never hurts me at all. I think Peruna is a great medicine for womankind."—Mrs. E. T. Gaddis.

Women are especially liable to pelvic catarrh, female weakness as it is commonly called.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

REALISTIC FINISH.

Where There Was to Be an Automobile an Ambulance Was Necessary.

"This," said the dramatist, who was elaborating the scenario of his new play to the manager, according to Judge, "is to be a realistic society drama. The heroine makes a thrilling entrance in an auto."

"What does she do then?" asked the manager.

"Why, of course she meets the hero and the villain and the subterfuge and the rest, and the play goes on to the usual happy ending."

"Well, you start realistically enough, but you weaken on your finish."

"How's that?" asked the puzzled playwright.

"She's going to come in on an auto and a few of the rest ought to make their exit in an ambulance."

The Thousand Islands.

There may be somewhere on the earth a more delightful region than that of the Thousand Islands; but if there is, it has not been discovered. It is the Venice of America, but also has good hotels that can be kept warm if there shall happen to be a cold rainy evening. It is as fine as the Bay of Naples, with 2,000 picturesque islands scattered along the twenty-five miles of one of the most beautiful rivers in the world. You can find out a great deal regarding it in No. 10 of the "Four-Track Series." "The Thousand Islands." Copy will be mailed free on receipt of a 2-cent stamp by George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent, Grand Central Station, New York.

GET WELL—STAY WELL.

The thousands of people who are every day being made well by Doan's Kidney Pills and the free trial herewith offered makes further delay, "Kidney neglect."

They correct urine with brick dust sediment, high colored, pain in passing, dribbling, frequency, and wetting. Doan's Kidney Pills remove calculi and gravel. Relieve heart palpitation, sleeplessness, headache, nervousness, dizziness.

Newbern, Ky.—B. C. Jones writes: "I was unable to get anything to stop the too much flow of water. For forty years I had headache day and night—could not sleep well—was very weak, and about giving up all hope. I got Doan's Pills and they cured me. That was five months ago, and I can say, today, my water is regular and I have not had headache for five months. For bed wetting, scalding urine, and headache, Doan's Kidney Pills have no equal. I have recommended them to fifty different persons with good results. I first read of Doan's Pills in Smithland Banner, sent to you for sample and afterwards purchased the pills from Jolley Bros., Grand River."—B. C. Jones.

PROMENADE GOWN IN RUSSIAN BLOUSE EFFECT.

Hopsick is one of the most fashionable of dress goods, and a beautiful promenade costume is made of this material in a champagne color. The Russian blouse effect is well portrayed. The mutton eg sleeves are inset with a handsome applique work of broadcloth, as is also the skirt. Cord ornaments also help to add style and finish, and appear on both skirt and jacket. All of the stitching is done with Corticell stitching silk, which lends itself so well to this class of work. Gotic the several rows at the bottom of the skirt, and the fancy stitching on sleeve and blouse.

Grand Opera on the Graphophone.

The Columbia Phonograph Company is now offering a series of Grand Opera Records for the Graphophone, the preparation of which has involved great pains and expense. Every available mechanical device for producing a perfect record has been utilized, and the master records were made at the laboratory of the Company in New York by artists of international reputation. Among the celebrated singers whose voices have already been recorded is Marcella Sembrich, the wonderful coloratura soprano, and queen of the lyric stage, of whom Mr. W. J. Henderson, the musical critic of the New York Sun says: "When I am listening to Marcella Sembrich singing Brahms' 'Wie Melodien,' or Schubert's 'Du Bist Die Ruh,' I think she must be the greatest singer that ever lived." And the graphophone has preserved not only for us, but for all time, the magnificent vibrant tones of Edouard De Reszke, the foremost living basso, whose name is a synonym for all that is noble and excellent in his art; and of Madame Schumann-Heink, the most prominent contralto of modern times. Rarely has such great dramatic power been combined with such wonderful quality of tone. It seems impossible that a voice can be so trained as to express with equal sureness the tragic and the pathetic, the humorous and the burlesque, but Schumann-Heink combines all these qualities in a voice which is a marvel of purity and excellence.

Records have also been made of the voices of Campanari, the leading Italian baritone of the time; of Suzanne Adams, the youngest of all the great prima donnas; and of Antonio Scotti, and Charles Giliert, who have a personal following equally that of Campanari himself.

The Grand Opera Records are approved and signed by the singers making them, and are endorsed by musical people generally. Signor F. Mancinelli, the musical Director of the Metropolitan Opera House says: "I have just listened with great pleasure to the remarkable reproduction of the voices of the artists of the Metropolitan Opera House. They are true to life and clear and I can only express my satisfaction with them."

Those who have not the opportunity to hear grand opera singers will be interested and instructed by the reproductions of the voices of these great artists, and those who frequent the opera will find it a pleasure to recall the presence and action of the original.

But these Grand Opera Records will be of special educational value to the student. Those who are striving to work out theories of the production of tone, or are endeavoring to acquire a particular style, know that one of the greatest incentives to success is some concrete example of what they are striving for, some embodiment of the result which they hope to attain. It is not the instruction of the teacher which spurs the student to his greatest effort; it is the voice of the artist who has attained the goal; and that voice must be studied, and studied with care.

With these Grand Opera Records, the student will have an opportunity to observe minute details of phrasing and enunciation which have hitherto been beyond his grasp.
